Know How to Plant and Prune

READ CAREFULLY

Planting Instructions

Nursery stock, the same as farm seeds or flower seeds, responds readily to well prepared fertile soil. You would not expect to get results by planting corn, potatoes or flower seeds in sod. Prepare your soil for nursery stock the same as you would for any other farm or garden product.

Prepare the soil by deep spading or plowing. Have it mellow and well fertilized. (Never put fertilizer of any kind so that it comes in direct contact with the roots of the tree or plant. Except Ra-Pid-Gro—see catalog page 37.)

How To Plant Trees

PLANTING: Dig a hole, large enough to accommodate the roots without crowding. The hole should be a little deeper than is necessary to plant the tree as deep as it was in the nursery row. Spread the roots out in a natural position. Then fill in with some of the fine top soil, joggling the trees up and down to work the soil in well around the roots to avoid air pockets. Press or tramp earth firmly; use your feet—pack earth quite solid. Now fill the hole half full of additional soil. Slowly pour on water to thoroughly wet soil. Let settle, then fill with earth, pressing the earth down firmly around the tree or plant. Cover depression caused by trampling around tree or plant with the rest of the soil, leaving loose to absorb moisture.

— Pruning Instructions — For Fruit Trees

All roots and tops should be pruned before planting. When properly pruned, tree should not have more than 3 or 4 branches.

Illustration "C" shows the correct way of pruning both roots and tops.

Fruit trees planted in the fall need not have the tops permanently trimmed until the following spring, after danger of hard freezing is past and before the buds start.

Planting Blackberries and Raspberries

BLACKBERRIES and RASPBERRIES: For field cultivation set Blackberries 3 feet apart in rows 7 feet apart. Set Raspberries 3 feet apart in rows 6 feet apart. For garden culture the plants may be more closely spaced. After planting, cut branches back to within a few inches of the ground. (See pages 39, 44, and 45.)

Grapes (See Page 43)

Work the soil thoroughly before planting Grapes, and dig the hole broad and deep (several inches deeper than enough to receive the roots). Fill it up to the right depth with rich soil, and firm the earth well about the roots, as the hole is back-filled.

Pruning. The fruit of the Grape is produced on the current year's growth of canes. These canes should be pruned each winter so that only one of the buds remain on each stub. The young plant is trained to one shoot until it reaches the top of the trellis, to which it is tied. Two canes are allowed to grow from the top the second year, forming a framework for the succeeding growth. Remove all growth that starts on the main trunk as soon as it appears. The third year the cross-arms are pruned back to six or eight buds. These produce the bearing shoots.

Planting Rhubarb And Asparagus

RHUBARB: Plant Rhubarb 3 feet apart in rich garden soil, with bud or eye 1 inch below the surface of the soil.

ASPARAGUS: Set Asparagus 1 foot apart in rich soil. Plant in a furrow 9 inches deep. Cover with 3 inches of soil and tramp down. When cultivating work soil at edge of furrow toward plants so that by mid-summer the ground is level. DO NOT cover plants over 3 inches deep at first or they will be smothered. (See page 34.)

Blueberry Plants

Blueberries will grow in any good garden soil. A well-drained sandy loam, acid soil is best. Muck soil may be used if it is acid and properly drained. Good air circulation is important. Common sulphur and peat moss will make soil acid.

Set the plants 4 by 10 feet apart. Cultivate once a week. Do not fertilize until plants have been set a year or more. Use Ra-Pid-Gro fertilizer or any reliable fertilizer, following directions.

Prune plants when dormant in early spring, starting the fourth year. Remove one or two old canes each year, and lightly thin out the tops in remaining old canes. Thinning increases size of fruit. Plants in garden may be watered once a week during dry weather.

TOO DEEP TOO SHALLOW JUST RIGHT
Illustration F

STRAWBERRIES: Have ground thoroughly pulverized. Plant with a spade 1 ft. apart in the row and 4 ft. apart between the rows. Push spade into ground to full depth. Press it to one side, insert roots and spread them out fan shape and hanging down to their full length. Set plant with crown at surface of earth. DO NOT GET CROWN COVERED WITH EARTH. (See illustration "F".) Remove spade and press earth against roots by placing foot on either side of plant. Pull some loose soil around plant. Remove all bruised or dry leaves. (Pages 46-47.)
